American Staffing Association Announces Winter, Wyman Recipient of First Corporate Responsibility Award

The American Staffing Association (ASA) announces that Winter, Wyman, a staffing firm headquartered in Waltham, MA, is a recipient of one of the first four ASA Care Awards for corporate social responsibility. These national awards recognize outstanding corporate social responsibility initiatives – business processes that produce an overall positive effect on society – among ASA member companies and affiliated chapters.

"Corporate social responsibility is a priority of ASA and increasingly a priority among its member companies," said Richard Wahlquist, ASA president and CEO. "ASA instituted this award to applaud the efforts of exemplary member companies and affiliated chapters. The association hopes that by learning the stories behind the award winners, other member firms may better understand the benefits of practicing good corporate social responsibility and, in turn, institute their own programs that will improve the lives of their employees and better their communities."

To lead the company's corporate social responsibility program, Winter, Wyman has a dedicated corporate community development manager who oversees the firm's myriad volunteer services, community activities, and donation programs. More than 75% of its employees participate in company-sponsored community service activities.

"Winter, Wyman is very proud of our employees and their dedication to giving back to the community and we're proud to be a winner of this award," said Bob Boudreau, chief executive officer. "Several years ago, we made a commitment as an organization to become more involved in our community. We feel strongly that our firm and employees have been fortunate in their careers and educational opportunities and that we have an obligation to give back to those who have been less fortunate. Our employees' response to our community development program continues to be overwhelming."

The Care Award winners will be honored Oct. 25 in San Diego during a special ceremony at Staffing World® 2008, the ASA convention and expo, where they will be
